

Communications Policy

It is the policy of Frostburg State University to keep the faculty, staff, students and the local community apprised of accurate information regarding the University. The Office of Marketing and Communications maintains a communications plan that outlines the methods and process for releasing information that promote the successes and needs of FSU. Addendums to this plan include an emergency preparedness plan and a crisis intervention plan maintained by FSU Police.